NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The dance at the Tabard Hotel, Thursday night, was well attended.

Mr. Egerton, on the Fourth of July, will control an ice cream stand on Central Avenue.

Rugby is pulling itself together for a really "Glorious Fourth." Pass the word around, and come in crowds.

Mr. Hayter will leave Rugby on the 5th July, to spend a few months in England previous to sailing for Australia.

Mr. Crave Duncan, on Friday, passed through the village with a party of seven Germans, and a big load of household goods, for Allardt.

The Fourth of July in Rugby bids fair to show the best celebration of the "glorious Fourth" the Cumberland plateau has ever seen.

Mr. David Moore, of Allardt, who is making a prolonged stay upon the Plateau, went to Wartburg on Tuesday, for a stay of several weeks.

Mrs. S. E. Berry, with three children, from Huntsville, Ala., arrived on Sunday, upon a visit to her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Berry and family.

We would call attention to the advt. of H. G. Litton & Co., Jewelers, of Somerset, Ky., a well known firm, guaranteeing entire satisfaction with low prices.

You must not be out of Rugby on the Fourth of July, and those living outside should come in and see the outdoor sports, and indoor entertainment of the evening.

We would draw attention to Mr. Baldwin's advertisement in our columns this week, and the advantages he proposes to give Sunday visitors during the next three months.

The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette says: "A more delightful place for loading and genuine rest, or more balmy mountain air than is found at Rugby, one must go far to discover."

T. Lyon White, Special Inspector for the Dundee Mortgage and Trust Investment Co., of Scotland, made us a very pleasant call Wednesday. He has just returned from an extended trip to England and Scotland and is now on his way to his "Paradise" in the mountains.—Williamsburg, (Ky.) Times.

Mr. Graham, editor of the Parkhill (Canada) Gazette, who was in Rugby and Allardt a few weeks ago, publishes in his paper quite a long and very fair account of his visit, and any person interested in the soil, climate and productions of the Plateau, would do well to send for a copy of the issue of June 19th.

An esteemed subscriber writes us as follows: "In your next issue please suggest to 'Polly Parrot,' on behalf of one who is much interested in Allardt, the propriety of soaring a little nearer the ground, and furnishing practical information regarding crops, and the material prosperity of the hard working settlers, in lieu of less interesting and useful items."

Frank Blacklock and Olla Frusher, last week, met with accidents that were nearly quite serious. The former, while opening the door of a room in the Commissary, had a maul fall upon him, just missing his head but giving a sharp cut and blow on his shoulder, while the latter, leaning over his father's wagon, fell out, the wheel badly grazing his shoulder, but not quite passing over it.

The Sunbright Masonic Lodge having determined to hold a "strawberry festival," interspersed with ice cream, songs, speeches and instrumental music, sent out invitations to all surrounding Lodges. Tuesday afternoon Mr. Crave Duncan loaded up, and by the evening train from Sedgemoor, the station agent shipped the following gentlemen: R. Walton, J. R. Lumley, E. C. Fisher, G. W. Berry, W. Cummings, C. S. Moore, H. Potbury, J. H. Blacklock, C. H. Blacklock, A. H. Blacklock, H. Blacklock, Alex. Blacklock, A. Dyer, N. H. Tucker, F. Taylor, L. H. Dorehill, C. H. Wilson and Jeff. Shelby. Arrived at Sunbright the local Lodge was drawn up on the platform and presented an excellent appearance. The arrivals joined the procession and to the stirring strains of the Cornet Band paraded the awakened village. After braving the lens of an excellent local photographer the procession disbanded for an hour.

At its reforming it marched to the School house, where the exercises were commenced by the playing of several airs by the Band outside. Inside the Chair was ably filled by Dr. Hammack, who in appropriate language cordially welcomed the visitors. He was followed by Mr. W. R. Staples, the W. M. of the Sunbright Lodge and by Messrs. Walton and J. H. Blacklock. The former gentleman eloquently described how he had come, not to make a speech, but to consume strawberries and cream, and to keep cool; he would like to say, however, how much Masonry was indebted to the ladies upon such occasions as the present. Mr. Blacklock followed with a glowing eulogy of Masonry, which, he said, had adapted itself to all grades of civilization, from the barbarian to the highest culture of the day. Masonry was true manliness, true courage, and true chivalry. It bound its members together all over the world. While some of its work was secret, it was always glad of an opportunity to invite visitors to its more public ceremonies and occasions. The speaker concluded with a reference to the happy bonds of union between America and England, bonds which appealed not to the passions but to the intellect, not to the battle field but to the council chamber, where was the spirit of true Masonry.

There was some splendid singing, the choir, led by the Misses Hungerford, rendering between the speeches some choice musical selections. Mrs. Doubleday presided at the organ. The speeches and music over the audience adjourned to the Lodge room overhead, to partake of the more substantial provisions of the brethren. We question if "Squire Mosier, or any J. P. anywhere, ever saw better justice done than was displayed in that room for the first half hour. We have not room to enumerate the many well known Plateau faces present during the day's proceedings, but those from Rugby plainly showed full appreciation of Sunbright hospitality.

We understand that the Sports Committee of the Rugby Social Club, in the absence of Mr. George Rogers, are seeking the services of a British volunteer to read the Declaration of Independence, on the coming Fourth of July.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Clarke, and Willie, arrived yesterday from Atlanta, on their way to Allardt, where they will spend several months. Mrs. Clarke and Willie will first spend a week or so at Mr. Riddell's.

Mr. F. W. Hill, who has resided in Rugby and the neighborhood the last three years, leaves this morning for Cincinnati, but will shortly go down to Kissimmee, Florida.

Mr. Ed. Goff, of Allardt, and Mr. C. A. Clark, of Rugby, will shortly start a broom factory in the former village. It would be well if some of the smaller industries were more attended to. There are many fine opportunities in this district for making quite successful businesses.

It will be seen by Mr. Ouderdonk's local temperature report, this week, that the heat has been very regularly distributed.

Mr. Elliott is adding a good verandah to his house on Central Avenue, also a kitchen, and will front his lot with a new picket fence. Mr. F. Moore is the contractor.

A party of gentlemen are expected from Somerset this evening with the express purpose of fishing in our two mountain streams.

CHATTER FROM ALLARDT.

BY POLLY PARROT.

It is so very warm that I can scarcely keep my hold of the perch my kind owners have provided me with, and what with my drooping plumage, and too frequently outcoming feathers, I fear I am anything but "pretty Poll." I don't understand how poets could have written so much in praise of "glad and bright summer days," unless they wrote amid the cold and snow of winter. However, I suppose, "only a parrot" can not be taken into consideration over and above the claims of more useful bipeds.

Mr. Herman Goff, who is home for the vacation, preached in our church, Sunday evening, an excellent sermon from Acts, 2nd. v. 28. He is invited to favor us again.

I understand there is to be a great deal of noise here on the 4th of July, during the day, with fireworks at night. We have a foretaste, already, in the nightly discharge of a few rockets. I will be let out that day, and from my observatory among the trees will doubtless find something of interest to relate.

Among our late visitors have been Mr. Warren Goff, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clark and family and Miss H. Brown, of Rugby, and Misses Abbott and Hoover from Indiana, and Miss Brockett, from Ohio.

On the Fourth of July, under the auspices of the Rugby Social Club, it is proposed to provide quite a popular entertainment, consisting of a series of athletic sports, terminating, in the evening, with two clever and amusing farces. The programme provides jumping and leaping, foot races, a horse race, children's races, tug-of-war, with a wheelbarrow race and a donkey race. There will also be lots of bunting, flags, crackers and music, and a plentiful flow of iced drinks, and ice cream. Messrs. Lumley & Mallory will have a lunch counter for the supply of substantial provisions, and Mr. Ross, of the Tabard Hotel, and Mrs. Dyer, of the Newbury House, will, as usual, but with more extended efforts, if possible, provide for the comforts of the many expected visitors. The outdoor sports will commence at 2:30 p.m.

At Commissary Hall, in the evening, there will be a Dramatic Entertainment by members of the Social Club. Two pieces will be presented, respectively entitled, "Turn Him Out" and "An Unwarrantable Intrusion." The Rugby Cornet Band has kindly consented to play some airs at intervals during the performances. It is quite safe to anticipate a fine entertainment, and a very full house. Prices of admission, adults 25 cents, children under 13 years of age, 10 cents.

Visitors and strangers to Rugby, as they travel to our mountain resort, cannot but note and appreciate the grand line of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, that runs from the Ohio river to the Gulf of Mexico, and has done the greater part of the work of developing the country of East Tennessee, which, before its building, was, comparatively speaking, an unknown country.

The warm-hot-weather of the last fortnight melts the remembrance of the days in January and February, when the mercury trifled with its Plateau reputation by violently coquetting with zero. The cool evenings and nights, however, so depressing to the mosquito, but delightful to the secker of "tired Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," fully compensate for the "burden and heat of the day."

Mr. W. S. Allen, of Allardt, was in town yesterday, to meet his parents Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Allen, of Terre Haute, Ind., who with their daughter, Mrs. C. H. Rockwell, of Cincinnati, propose making a lengthened stay in Fentress County.

Mr. Ross informs us that nearly every room in the Tabard has been engaged for the month of July.

COME AND SEE.

Figure on prices of land in Arkansas, the products per acre and their marketing. Raise early crops. Get large prices. Figure on the days of out-door labor, clothing and food; then contrast the stock-raising in the North. Figure on constant employment. Find that sensible and careful people are healthy. Learn of good seasons, fine climate and favorable showers.
Don't "guess" that "wheat of the prairies" will profit you, but know that a variety of crops insures a home market.
